

either house of the legislature, or by any committee or officer thereof, except by a joint resolution or by law; nor shall it be lawful for any officer to certify to or draw a warrant on the state treasurer for the pay of any officer or employee of the legislature not authorized by law: provided, that notwithstanding the provisions and restrictions in this section before contained, it shall be the duty of each of the chief clerks of the two houses of the legislature, to provide such additional and extra clerical assistance as in their judgment may be necessary for the timely and proper discharge of the duties devolving upon them in the several departments of the subordinate clerks, and to draw the usual warrants upon the treasury for their pay, as is done for the pay of other employees of the legislature.”

Proviso.

SECTION 2. Section three of said act is also amended, so as to read as follows: “Section 3. Section one of chapter 136 of the laws of 1860, entitled ‘an act to provide and appropriate compensation to the officers of the legislature,’ is hereby amended, by adding to such section the following words: ‘to the porter, two dollars and fifty cents; to the book-keeper three dollars a day; and to such extra clerks as may be employed, three dollars a day, of eight hours each.’”

Per diem of certain officers.

SECTION 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

Approved March 27, 1867.
